Colleagues:

Two of our courageous and most consistent clergy caregivers are experiencing a time of personal anguish and painful struggle. Let us surround both of them and their families with our earnest intercessory prayers.

Neal Brumley, husband of clergy deacon Patience Brumley, has suffered many months in a valiant effort to overcome the advance of cancer in his body. He is now under the care of Hospice at their home and receptive to brief visits. His condition weakens each day. You can communicate with Patience through e-mail at pbrumley@carolina.rr.com

Bob Elliott, husband of retired elder Sara Elliott, is being transferred from University City Hospital to home with the assistance of Hospice and Palliative Care. You may reach Sara through her e-mail address, selliott414@carolina.rr.com

Let us join together in praying that Neal and Bob will experience a peaceful transition from this condition of disease to the reality of wholeness in the full presence of a loving God.

Grace and peace,

George
