

Charlotte District E-Pistle

September 25, 2007

I hope that you find this mailing to be superfluous. Attached is a bulletin insert, regarding the District Leadership Conference at University City UMC on October 7th, 2:30-5:30 p.m., to be cited in worship or sent by e-mail or postal communication to all your membership. If you have already used this resource in multiple ways, this additional E-Pistle is an intrusion upon your time and requires my apology.

The additional attachment is a brochure featuring our keynote speaker, Dr. Richard Heitzenrater, and outlining our generous array of classes—all designed to explore a Wesleyan theme. If this brochure is already in the hands of all your lay leadership, has been placed in every adult and youth Sunday school class, e-mailed to your general membership, championed from your pulpit, and used for recruitment purposes; then it too is superfluous. I apologize to you for this redundancy.

But if you have failed to provide the above efforts to communicate to all your people this exciting opportunity, you have until October 7th to cover all the bases. We shall come together at University City as a district to learn from such scholars as Dr. Heitzenrater, Dr. Robert Tuttle, and the marvelous alignment of Charlotte District instructors.

This DLC is designed to inspire and educate. It is developed by your district planners to have a general appeal to all our laity and clergy, especially those who want to know and faithfully practice their Wesleyan heritage.

Grace and peace,

George
